

Reedy, Chandra L

---

From: Nees, Lawrence P, JR
Sent: Tuesday, October 24, 2017 1:07 PM
To: Reedy, Chandra L
Cc: Werth, Mary Margaret; Magner, Linda J; Dominguez Torres, Monica; Bellion, Wendy A
Subject: RE: Architecture courses

Dear Chandra,

Nice to hear from you! Yes, you certainly have permission to add ARTH629 and ARTH633 to the list of eligible courses for the Certificate in Historica Preservation.

I am copying some of the colleagues who ought to be informed of this change.

Best wishes, and thanks,
Larry

Lawrence Nees
Professor and Chair
H. Fletcher Brown Chair of Humanities
Department of Art History
University of Delaware
Newark, DE 19716 U.S.A.

---

From: Reedy, Chandra L
Sent: Monday, October 23, 2017 11:19 AM
To: Nees, Lawrence P, JR <nees@udel.edu>
Subject: Architecture courses

Hi Larry,

We're making some modifications to our Certificate Program in Historic Preservation. This is a 12-credit Certificate; students are required to take two 3-credit courses (one on historic preservation theory and one on methods). They can then select the other six credits from a list of electives. Students who are more interested in planning and policy aspects of historic preservation can take their electives in pertinent courses in those areas; students more interested the material culture aspect of historic preservation, especially architecture, can choose electives in those areas.

As part of the revision of the list of electives, we wanted to add two art history courses, ARTH633 Studies in Nineteenth Century American Architecture, and ARTH629, Studies in Modern Architecture (ARTH 631, Studies in American Architecture of the Colonial and Federal Periods, is already listed).

Is this inclusion of the two additional art history courses in list of the allowable electives OK with you?

Thanks,

Chandra

Dr. Chandra L. Reedy

Professor, School of Public Policy & Administration
Interim Director, Center for Historic Architecture & Design
Director, Certificate Program in Historic Preservation
240 Academy St., 331 Alison Hall
University of Delaware, Newark, DE 19716